

WHO'S READY TO SLED?!

Well...what to say. The Province of BC is in rough shape right now. We are sending our thoughts to those who have been dramatically affected by the flooding the past few days. La Nina is an understatement at this point.

But there's still some good news for some of us. Though it rained down low, it snowed up high! And if all goes as planned we will have the Quartz trail groomed by Saturday. Cross your fingers and watch Social Media for updates!

QUARTZ DISCLAIMER: The situation with the road up at Quartz for the next couple of weeks isn't ideal, but we are working hard to make sure you can still get up there. Do what you can to help us out, as there is limited parking up at the 9k area: Carpool if you can, leave the trailer at home, and have a backup plan in case there's no parking available.

It's pretty excellent up there! The wind definitely got to the Alpine, but you can find excellent conditions, at treeline and below.
