

SILENT KNIGHTS

We are happy to report that all 3 staging area trailheads will be open this weekend. Silent Pass, our last trail to be groomed is getting a fresh coat of corduroy as we speak. Conditions in Golden remain as good early-season riding. We've been getting small hits of snow on a semi-daily basis this week and that has preserved and slightly improved the riding conditions; we've had approximately 20cms in the past 7 days. It's not epic deep, but it's also not that bad. Currently there's 13cms in the forecast and the temps are warmer than usual but staying below freezing. The alpine avalanche conditions are still rated at considerable and low below treeline.

Snow & Weather

SNOW AND WEATHER

The snow has settled quite a bit this week but with 20cms new it is slowly filling in more and more. The main areas are quite compacted and there are still a lot of hazards lurking. That being said, there are still fresh bowls that haven't been shredded yet if you know where to look.

There's approx 13 cms of snow in the forecast and the temps are staying below freezing.

KHMR reported 18cms in the past week and 217cm YTD.
